Learning to Love Through It

Dear Federated Family,

There's a lot on my heart as I write to you this month. We're in a season of change here at Federated, and some of it is hard. People we love are facing things we wish we could take off their shoulders. Familiar routines are shifting. And with the midterm elections upon us, the world beyond our doors has its own share of uncertainty.

It's a good time to take a breath together. To pray. To remember whose we are, and that we have each other.

Thea's cancer diagnosis has touched so many of us. Her love and work run through so much of this church's life: from our Generosity Commission to Prime Time, our ministry with seniors, and more places than we could easily count. And we know that we feel her absence because we have been blessed by her presence. Right now, we want Thea and her family to know they are loved and surrounded by a church family ready to walk with them.

We're also holding Beth Rutkowski in prayer as she recovers from shoulder surgery and takes a couple of weeks to heal. And on October 18, we said goodbye to Rev. Judy Bagley-Bonner, our pastor for pastoral care. And on November 4, we'll welcome Abigail Reed as our new Director of Youth and Family Ministries—I'm excited for you to get to know her and for the ministry we'll share.

All of that adds up to a lot of transition in a short stretch of time, both for our staff and for our congregation. It is such a blessing to watch as people are stepping forward. Staff and church members are helping to carry responsibilities, attending to needs, and finding ways to support one another. There is a lot of care at work here, some of it quietly and behind the scenes. I'm grateful.

I also want to ask for a little extra grace. Something may take longer than usual. A detail may get missed, or an expectation may go unmet. If you notice a need, please let us know. You don't have to assume someone else has already mentioned it. Your patience, help, and willingness to speak kindly will make a difference as we find our way together.

I also want us to keep our eyes open for what God is doing among us. I don't believe any of this will be wasted. I'm not one to say that God sends illness or hardship to teach us a lesson. But I do believe God meets us here, and that even in a season we would never have chosen, love can take root in new ways. Someone discovers they have something to offer. Someone accepts help who has always been the one giving it. A relationship deepens because somebody takes the time to call.

During this season, on Sunday mornings, we've been talking about the hurt that happens when people proclaim the love of God and then fail to practice it. That is a concern the church has to take seriously. And it brings a question right to our own doorstep: How will we practice the love we proclaim?

We have opportunities before us. In this month's newsletter, you'll find an update on Becoming a Sanctuary People, our safe church initiative. You'll also learn about our confirmands, and I hope you'll continue to pray for them, encourage them, and help them know they belong here as they explore their faith.

This coming Sunday, we'll gather for our special Veterans Sunday celebration and honor those who have served.

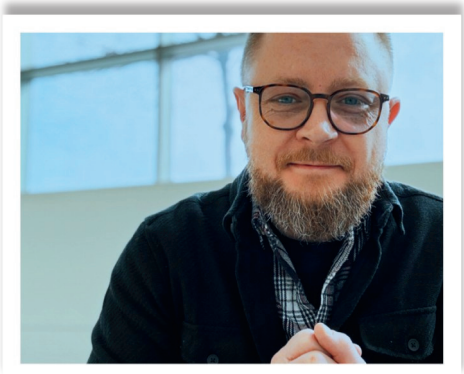

Each of these is part of learning how to care for the people entrusted to us. So is making room for someone's worry. So is following through on an offer to help. So is remembering that the person on the other end of a conversation may be carrying more than we know.

What a gift to have a church family where we can come to get our feet under us again: to pray, to stay connected, and to remember what matters. We're still learning. We won't get everything right. But we can keep showing up for each other, trusting that God is with us as we do.

May God give us patience for the changes, courage for the work, and tenderness toward one another.

I'm so grateful to be your pastor.

With love and gratitude,
Pastor Michael

NEW ADA BATHROOM DOORS

As prioritized by the Church Council and the Finance & Properties Committee, we have recently added electric ADA doors to the two restrooms off the main lobby downstairs and the restroom on the Sanctuary level. This improvement makes these restrooms more fully accessible and is one way we can demonstrate our commitment to an extravagant welcome for everyone.

Funds raised through the 2026 Trinkets N Treasures event helped make this addition possible.

A REMINDER ABOUT USING THE NEW DOORS:
The doors are designed to be operated using the push buttons located both outside and inside the restrooms. Please use the buttons when entering and exiting rather than pushing the doors open manually. Manually opening the doors can damage the motors and prevent the automatic door system from working properly.

Thank you for helping us care for this new equipment and, most importantly, for helping ensure that our restrooms remain accessible and welcoming to all.

Women's Ministry

Circle will meet on Monday, November 16 at 1:00 PM in the Lower Level Meeting Room. We will be assembling toiletry bags, so please bring the usual items, along with white tube socks and washcloths. We will also be making items for St. Paul's Christmas Shop. We hope you can join us for this important mission!

Sit and Stitch meets every Thursday at 10:00 AM in Room 340. Join us for knitting and crocheting as we make prayer shawls, blessing blankets, and prayer squares. Needles and yarn are provided, and all are welcome!

Helping Hands will meet Monday, November 23 at 1:00 PM in the Lower Level Meeting Room to continue making comfort pillows for hospice patients. Whether you sew or can help stuff and pin pillows, your help is appreciated! Donations of 100% cotton fabric (at least 1/3 yard long) may be brought to the meeting or left at the Angel Desk labeled Helping Hands. We also need donations of travel- or sample-sized toiletry items for our mission baskets. Please leave these donations in the bin behind the Angel Desk.

Loaves & Fishes will serve lunch at St. Paul's Church on Sunday, November 29. Donations of cookies and snacks may be left in the church kitchen by 9:00 AM that morning, labeled Loaves & Fishes. Small plastic containers with lids are also needed and may be dropped off anytime. If you'd like to help serve lunch, please contact Jim Scheuermann at 440-384-8565.

CLC News

Family Life Center Rain Garden

Thanks to two generous grants from the Ohio EPA Environmental Education Fund, the FLC is home to a 30 x 22 ft. rain garden filled with native flowers and shrubs. Installed in September 2025, it drains and filters rain water and reduces flooding in the large area between the parking lot and the playground. Community Life Collaborative (CLC) staff and volunteers steward the garden with our partner, Chagrin River Watershed Partners. At just over a year old, it is already a productive environmental resource for the public, school programs, and the community.

Why a rain garden? It's one of many programs developed with Federated Church and CLC that serve as community role models and teaching tools. Its 100+ native plants, including hyssop, purple coneflower, and blue star, capture and filter rain, reduce flooding, and improve water quality. A garden this size can filter more than 14,000 gallons per year, returning clean water to the water table and supporting healthier rivers and streams.

Building it took just two and a half days. Seventeen volunteers from Federated, local garden clubs, and CLC did all the digging, planting, mulching, and soil work. Laura Bonnell of Chagrin River Watershed Partners also led a free community workshop on managing flooding on your own property.

What's next? We're planning more youth programs and community events that use the garden to teach about stormwater, watershed health, native plants, biodiversity, and habitat restoration. We also plan to add more native flowers that bees and butterflies love, additional river rocks for drainage, and a watering system.

Want to help keep the garden beautiful and functioning in spring, summer, or fall? Call CLC at 440-708-1961 or visit communitylifecollaborative.org.

Destinee Burse: Lifting Up Community Resilience!

Ensuring a healthy environment for every community is not an optional act of charity, but a fundamental test of our collective morality. With the increasing extreme weather events, community and faith leaders acknowledge a growing need to collaborate and prepare specific plans for community resilience for everyone.

On Friday, October 16, faith and community leaders gathered at Corporate College East for the Northeast Ohio black Health Coalition (NEOBHC) Annual Faith and Leaders Environmental Impacts Luncheon. This year's luncheon highlighted NEOBHC's historic "Reimagining Communities" conversations that stimulate community planning with data collection and constituent input. The Executive Director of the Community Life Collaborative, Destine Burse, was recognized at this luncheon as a 2026 Resilience Rising Warrior. The award honors Northeast Ohio faith and community leaders who demonstrate environmental stewardship, advocacy, and a commitment to creating positive change in their communities.

Please join me in congratulating Destinee Burse for receiving this award.

Connecting With Nature and Neighbors

What a beautiful day for a neighbor! On October 10, The CLC's 4th Annual Fall Festival celebrated all gifts, abilities, and walks of life with another fun-filled immersion in nature. Designed and implemented in collaboration with Cleveland MetroParks, Npower Services Cleveland, NEO Community Resilience Centre, and LifeWorks Autism Services, we created a sensory-friendly and accessible welcome using the bounty of the indoor and outdoor spaces of Federated's Family Life Center. Neighbors became friends in collective joy!!

A BIG THANKS goes to the boys of Troop 150 and Federated members Dennis Kieta, Martine Scheuermann, Ward Pierson, Anne Burr, Catherine Schneider, Laney Lanza, Ann Lentz, Bill Lentz, and Marty Culbertson for making this community event possible!
